City crosses 200-mark, state Covid-19 count touches 3,023

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Chennai: Tamil Nadu's Covid-19 positive count rose by 266 on Sunday to touch 3,023, with Chennai crossing the 200-mark. A 44-year-old man from Coimbatore died at Chennai's Rajiv Gandhi Government General Hospital taking TN's toll to 30.

In a clear sign that the infection rate was rising in Chennai, the doubling rate — time taken for the number of cases to double — fell to four days. The rate, calculated by the National Institute of Epidemiology, was nine days on April 27. That hospital in Chennai, which reported 203 cases on Sunday, were running out of beds was clear from reports that 40 ambulances with Covid-19 patients from Ashok Nagar and Tiruvallur were turned away by Stanley Medical College, Madras Medical College and Omandurar hospitals, before they were accommodated at Kilpauk Medical College hospital in the evening. This was confirmed by an ambulance driver and officials at KMC, who requested anonymity. On Sunday, public health officials and doctors visited several city colleges to set up more than 2,000 isolation beds for patients with mild

TN comes out with SOP for restarting industries

Chennai: The state government on Sunday issued a detailed note on standard operating procedures (SOP) to be followed while restarting industries, micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs) and construction work across the state from May 6. As per the SOP, workplaces should have thermal scanners to screen workers at entry and exit points, premises must be disinfected twice a day and companies must arrange for doctors' visit or ensure they are available on call at all times.

The state government on Saturday allowed industrial establishments in special economic zones, export oriented units, IT and IT enabled services, hardware manufacturers, spinning mills, textile units and other industries to resume production. It also allowed construction activities to resume, with certain riders. TNN
