

Enlarger

Specialized transparency projector used to produce photographic prints from film. It consists of a light source, a condensing lens, a holder for the negative and a projecting lens.

The vertically mounted photo enlarger works by shedding a stream of light down through the negative film to make a photographic print of the image projected onto the enlarger was used extensively by the postgraduate students of the Department of Fine Arts 80's for their course on Photography.