

Agil – Agfa Lighting

The Agil – Agfa Lighting equipment was used extensively in the Department of Fine Arts. It consists of a wooden board with two adjustable flanking lights. The camera would be positioned face down on top of a tripod to photograph pictures from books to be used by the postgraduate art History students for their dissertation and documentation. Students have also used it as lighting equipment for product shots of undergraduate practical projects.

