

June 26, 2016

Early start to the entrepreneurial journey

Compared to three years ago, student start-ups are now more norm than exception. Almost all colleges are coming up with initiatives to develop their students' entrepreneurial skills. Entrepreneur development cells are now part of the curriculum of many colleges. At Loyola, we always want our students to be job creators and not job seekers.

Fatima Vasanth,
Deputy Principal of Loyola College

THE HINDU, DOWNTOWN, DT: 26/6/2016 P.No: 4