

Sr. Ursula (Eileen Mary Mckee)

Since 1956 in Stella Maris Sr. Ursula was one of the most popular, meticulous wise warden, much remembered as a beautiful Nun with a rare sense of humour to make people burst out with hilarious laughter. An artist with classical literary charm was in charge of all designs and decorations, colour schemes and paintings- the editor of the college magazine since 1958 – 1978. Typical English in her refinement and reserve, talented, creative, well read and culturally up to date, she managed the two hostels so well. She painted the walls of Shanthi Bhavan Balwadi with colourful animals and flowers to make the children happy. She was a good friend and a community oriented person whose love for Stella Maris and India was ever lasting.
